AUGUST 1, 1913, NORWAY, MAINE.

VOLUME XLIV.

Housing the Sewer Laborers.

The problem of housing men who come to Norway from various points to work on the town sewer has thus far been a matter which has caused the contractors considerable concern, and which in a great measure has retarded the progress of digging trenches and laying pipes. It is believed now, however, that the question has been settled to such an extent that until the sewer is completed and ready to turn over to the town sewer committee for acceptance, there will be little hitch in accommodating all those who are able to secure work and all will have a place to sleep and eat.

At present there are 130 men on the job and all have been provided with comfortable beds and places where good substantial food may be obtained. Things were different last week, and in fact, since the first shovelful of earth was turned out on the job. There seemed on the part of many residents of Norway an antipathy against the men who had been sent here to do honest labor, and doors of boarding houses and other places were shut against them.

The condition of affairs soon became so acute that the men would not remain on the job. They complained that being unable to get a place where they could have refreshing sleep or substantial food in sufficient quantities they were not in condition to perform the hard manual labor they were called upon to perform, and some 50 of them have gone back from whence they came. Last Saturday 35 who had come to Norway from Berlin, Rumford Falls, Portland and Boston, settled their accounts with James H. Korr, the contractor, announced that the timekeeper would not be obliged to record their presence on Monday morning, and went away. All acknowledged that they badly needed the work and $2 a day, but because they couldn't secure places to board felt obliged to quit the job.

Ellery C. Frost, superintendent of the work, at once set about to relieve the condition of the men who stayed. Friday night there were some 15 who had no place to sleep, although they had figured on needed rest over Sunday. Application to several boarding houses brought forth the reply that there was no room for them, and some of the laborers were obliged to sleep in Westcott Park and under trees during Friday night.

Saturday morning Mr. Frost, whose home is in Mexico and who was superintendent of the filter plants between Worcester and South Framingham, considered one of the finest engineering jobs in New England, hired a shed, and out of his own pocket purchased mattresses for the men. The next day he visited several places and eventually succeeded in finding quarters for nearly all the men. Those who were unable to get a location hired a vacant tenement, set up a cook stove and had beds put in, and now are doing light housekeeping, with all acting as cooks and chamber help.

Edward C. Dyer of the Elm House restaurant took care of about 35 of the men and the Starbird boarding house took others, and with the securing of the vacant tenement and the occupation of the old grist mill at the falls all the men now working have a place to sleep and the chance of getting three square meals a day. The result is that with their feeling in better physical condition and the laying of the sewer pipe is progressing with a rapidity that is pleasing to the contractors and the town sewer committee.

Because of the several nationalities employed on the work the contractors believe the townspeople evidently had a wrong impression of the workers when they first came to town, there being in all places prejudice shown against the Italian, at first, to find quarters for the men. However, Superintendent Frost overcame that objection by quartering the Italians in the old grist mill at the falls, the Irish in one house and the French in another, but all the men seem to be out of the ordinary run of pick and shovel men. They are shoemakers, sailors, printers, carpenters, machinists and other occupations who have taken the opportunity to earn $12 a week during the summer months, their explanation being that poor business conditions in their home cities or towns have obliged them to seek work in other vocations than those which they are accustomed to follow.

The contractors and many of the men have been told of the change in attitude toward them as compared with the Italians who did the trench work when the waterworks pipes were laid in 1888. At that time the men were quartered in the old barn near the ice house on the Norway Lake road, while some erected shacks and three or four "kept house" together. People from the village visited the camp every night and on Sundays, became friendly with the Italians and often partook of spaghetti, macaroni and tomatoes and other Italian delicacies. In fact, some of the workmen were entertained in the homes of some of the villagers. With the present gang the residents kept entirely aloof of them.

The Italians who are occupying the old grist mill and enjoying life as is wont with those of that nationality, no matter what kind of a job they are working, Santy D. Pucchi & Co., of Berlin, who sent all the men here, runs an Italian grocery store in connection with the place into which all townspeople have been barred. The shelves of the store are loaded with macaroni, spaghetti, Italian cheese, canned goods, bread and other substantial food, much of which is cooked by the head of a group for particular messmates. On both floors bunks have been been installed and after the evening meal those who desire, retire, while others give music on the mandolin, sing Italian songs and talk over boyhood days in the fatherland.

They pay strict attention to their own business, and desire that other people do the same. They do not care for the society of Norway people. It has been told that some of the men have frightened women and children at the falls, but this is denied by Mr. Pucchi, who declares that the stories have been started by someone who is feeling of terror and anxious to create a feeling of terror among neighbors. Inquiry by the writer among those who claimed they had been frightened by the Italian workmen (Continued on page 3)

Shoe Shop News.

L. M. Carroll, manager of the shoe factories of Sears & Roebuck of Chicago, Ill., was in town, Saturday, looking over the shoe factory and taking in conditions generally with a view to opening a factory here for the manufacture of ladies' shoes.

Frank Spinney was in town at the time and in company with A. J. Stearns, E. H. Noyes and George I. Cummings, went over the entire plant. Spinney in the mean time gave Mr. Carroll a brief history of the B. F. Spinney & Co.'s work here for the past forty years, giving him a very complete outline of what has been done.

The attitude Mr. Spinney presents toward Norway and her citizens is very gratifying and he says that the only reason for leaving town is that he is to cease to manufacturing shoes on account of other business, and if it were not for this reason he should remain here.

Mr. Carroll was very favorably impressed with the shoe factory plant here and although he could not say definitely whether they would locate here or not, thought that it would be a fine opening and it is on a direct road to Chicago, which adds to its favorableness.

James Brophy of the firm of Brophy Bros., of Lynn, Mass., is expected in town to look over the shoe shop. This firm is anxious to leave Lynn, Mass., and short time ago the Brophy Co. asked for a McKay price list and while some of the Union granted it, others did not favor it and the joint council finally turned down the proposition and as a result the company intend to leave Lynn. 60th Birthday.

On Tuesday evening, July 29, the Heywood Club House was opened to the largest and jolliest party for years. The occasion was the sixtieth birthday of A. Mollie Dunham, the oldest and best known Snow-shoe man around Maine.

It was a surprise supper given by the neighbors and friends. The tables fairly ground with good things to eat, among which were three huge birthday cakes, one bearing the dates, one an excellent cigar surrounded by candies and a third was decorated to represent a crowd of dancers with a large frosted violin in the center; for Mollie's own passion is to "fiddle and make them dance."

After the company was seated they were rapped to order and Mollie was presented with a fine writing desk and chair in the following manner by Mrs. Solomon I. Jackson:

Mollie, come here to meet you. And we are all most glad to greet you. For time flies very fast, just think only a few years have passed since you were a scolding laddie, first gladdened the heart of your Daddy. And from that auspicious day where'er you go, what'er you say, it is always just so. Among high or among low, You are gladdening the hearts Of your friends round these parts. So because we want to show you, just how glad we are to know you, from now on without end; We have called this Birthday Party, Corns down and eat right hearty. Then when you are satisfied, And all these goodies here you've tried, Please accept this desk and chair; Here their names who have given a share; And now we hope you will use it daily, And that you will live both long and halely.

Tired of Life.

The community was saddened Wednesday morning upon learning of the death of Walter H. Swett, who committed suicide at his home, about a mile and a half from South Paris village, some time during the early hours of the morning.

A note was found in his room stating that he would be found in the chamber over the shed, that he had shot himself and gave instructions what he wanted his daughter to do and how to dispose of the farm. Upon investigation he was found dead with a bullet wound in his forehead.

Mr. Swett's wife, Mrs. Annie Swett, died suddenly early in the spring and her death was a terrible shock to him and by brooding over that and the work on the farm and poor health it is thought he became mentally unbalanced.

Mr. Swett was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Swett and was 64 years of age and has spent the greater part of his life in South Paris and was a prosperous farmer, having one of the best farms in town.

Mr. Swett married Annie Forbes of South Paris and leaves one daughter, Eva F. Swett. He is also survived by his aged father, Harvey Swett, and one brother, Eugene N. Swett, of Norway.

The funeral, which was private, was held Thursday at 2 o'clock at his late residence conducted by Rev. A. T. McWhorter, pastor of the Congregational church.

Norway Man's 'Lucky Find'

Will Interest Readers of the Advertiser

Those having the misfortune to suffer from backache, urinary disorders, gravel, dropsical swellings, rheumatic pains, or other kidney and bladder disorders, will read with gratification this encouraging statement by a Norway man.

S. C. Foster, barber, Main St., Norway, Me., says: "The public statement I gave about Doan's Kidney Pills several years ago, was right in every particular. I used this remedy, getting it from Stone's Drug Store, and I am glad to say that it is the best one on the market. Sometimes when I catch cold, it settles on my kidneys, but a few doses of Doan's Kidney Pills give me relief."

The above statement must carry conviction to the mind of every reader. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—ask distinctly for Doan's Kidney Pills, the same that Mr. Foster had—the remedy backed by home testimony. 50c all stores. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

Doctors Said He Had Dropsy.

Some time ago I had an attack of grippe which finally settled in my kidneys and bladder. I doctored with the doctors and they claimed I had dropsy.
I tried other remedies and got no relief from any of them. My condition was such that I was unable to work for about two months and the annoying symptoms caused me a great deal of trouble and pain. I was hardly able to turn over in bed. Seeing one of your Almanacs, I decided to give Dr.
Kilmer's Swamp-Root a trial and after taking several bottles was able to resume my work again. I cannot say too much in praise of your Swamp-Root as the results in my case were truly wonderful.

Yours very truly,

A Literary Curiosity.

The following clipped from an old magazine is certainly a literary curiosity and shows to what extent transposition may be carried. The line is taken from one of Gray's poems and may be read in the following way.

The weary plowman plods his homeward way.
The plowman, weary, plods his homeward way.
His homeward way the plowman plods his way.
The plowman, weary, plods his homeward way.
His homeward way the plowman plods his way.
The plowman, weary, plods his homeward way.
His homeward way the plowman plods his way.
The plowman, weary, plods his homeward way.
His homeward way the plowman plods his way.

Children's Column.

DEAR GIRLS AND BOYS:—Blanche tells about her pets. My name is on a farm. Would you like to see my pets? I have three hens of my own. I call them Blackie, Spottie and Brownie. If you were to see them you would know why I give them these names.

Brownie has some chickens. They are a week old and I think they are the prettiest little things I ever saw. I put some eggs in Brownie's nest and what do you think Brownie did? She began to sit on them for three weeks day and night. She never left the nest for more than a few minutes at a time. Then a strange thing happened one day. I heard something say, "peep, peep." I looked in Brownie's nest and I saw ten little chickens there. Brownie is very proud of her babies. You should see what good care she takes of them. She is always looking for something for her chickens to eat; and then too, Brownie is a very brave little mother. One day a rat came into the barnyard where we keep the chickens. Brownie ran at the rat and drove it away. My other hens, Blackie and Spottie, lay eggs. I get their eggs and sell them.

Mother Red-Cap.
Two dear little children
Once were named Red-Cap
Far into the world,
One fine summer's day,
They searched for a mother.
Who lived in a wood,
And who, every one knew,
Was exceedingly good.

"We'll ask for," they said,
As they walked hand in hand,
"The very best thing
To be had in the land."
We'll be very polite,
And say please to your mind,
And dear Mother Red-Cap
Is sure to be kind."

They found Mother Red-Cap
And made their demand
For the very best thing
To be had in the land.
"From the day of your birth
You've had the best things
To be found on the earth."
"We've very best thing
For all little girls,
Better than taffy
Or rubies or pearls,
The best things of all,
All others above,
And your name and your mother,
And your dear mother's love."

Flour Explosion Wrecks Mill.
That flour, the softest and most innocent thing in the world, apparently, the very stuff of life, could, by and by, produce an engine of destruction, wrecking the mill that makes it and killing many people, as it did in one of the large cities of the country recently, would be thought incredible. But once in a long while, under certain rare conditions, it does act this way and becomes a terrible instrument of ruin. There is a scientific reason for its action. Gunpowder, dynamite, and other recognized explosives are all capable of suddenly releasing enormous power because they combine in close proximity finely divided carbon with exactly the necessary quantity of oxygen for its complete combustion, or, as a chemist would say, its oxidation. Flour contains these same elements, but usually they are held together in safe proportion. But once in a while the flour dust of the bin or mill is in such a condition that a spark, or even a jar, will produce an explosion as violent as that from the same reason as that of nitroglycerine.—The Christian Herald.

Some Cherry Dishes.
With cherries at their height there are many tasty dishes now possible, dishes which are healthful and out of the ordinary.

A cherry pudding made with sliced buttered bread is this: Fill a deep pudding dish with alternate layers of buttered bread and sour cherries, stoned and stewed with sugar. Pack the dish in ice and half freeze the mixture, which will become a semi-jelly. Eat with cream.

Cherries are the basis of most refreshing fruit salads. Stoned cherries mixed with half their quantity of shredded celery, chopped nuts to taste, and served with a mayonnaise in which cherry juice is used instead of vinegar, make an excellent salad.

ing fruit salads. Stoned cherries mixed
with half their quantity of shredded
celery, chopped nuts to taste, and served
with a mayonnaise in which cherry juice
is used instead of vinegar, make an excellent salad.

For another salad, mix chopped almonds and sliced cucumbers with cherries, add a serving of French dressing, Pineapple and hazel nuts and cherries make another happy combination. This salad should be served with a mayonnaise whitened with whipped cream.

Bananas sliced or diced with pitted cherries served with the mayonnaise made with whipped cream and having either rose or nasturtium petals for a garish is out of the ordinary.

A cherry pudding made with bread crumbs calls for three cups of stale crumbs soaked in milk until soft. Then add a teaspoonful of salt, a tablespoonful of sugar, grated nutmeg to flavor and enough flour to make a batter. Add two teaspoonfuls of baking powder to the flour. Stir in three well-beaten eggs and as many stoned cherries as can be stirred in. Fill a buttered tin or mold two-thirds full. Steam for two hours and a half; serve hot with any kind of sauce.

A cherry pudding that is baked also calls for bread crumbs. Mix together a cupful of fine bread crumbs, a cupful of flour, four teaspoon of sugar, two tea-spoonfuls of baking powder and half a teaspoonful of salt. Rub in four tablespoonfuls of shortening. Beat up an egg, and then add a half a cupful of milk; stir this into the other ingredients, over a cupful of pitted cherries sprinkle a little flour and stir these into the pudding. Bake half an hour and serve with a creamy sauce of any kind.

A cherry pie which calls for either blueberries and raspberries or the petals of two roses added to the cherries used in making a pie makes pleasing variations in this dessert. To three cupfuls of stoned cherries add a cupful of either the blueberries or the red raspberries, together with three-quarters of a cupful of sugar, a table-spoonful of butter. If rose petals are used, use the petals of two roses instead of the berries. Bake this pie with an upper and an under crust.

A cherry ice is made by boiling together a pint of water and three-quarters of a cupful of sugar, and then adding a teaspoonful of granulated gelatin, one and a half cupfuls of mashed, stoned cherries and the juice of a lemon.
When cool, stir in the beaten whites of three eggs. Do not turn into the freezer until quite cold.

Cherry tapioca is a delicious hot weather dessert. Wash a cupful of tapioca, cover with cold water, and let it soak until transparent. Put in a double boiler with a pint of hot water and cook until clear like starch. Add one and a half pounds of sour cherries, stoned, and sweeten to taste. Add half a teaspoonful of salt, and pour the pudding into a buttered mold. Steam very cold with cream.

A cherry punch made after this recipe is excellent: Dissolve a cupful of water and a pound of sugar over the fire and add the grated rind of an orange. Boil for five minutes, remove from the fire, and add a pint of cherry juice, the juice of two lemons and the juice of a lemon.
Let the mixture cool, and then freeze.
Garnish with whole stoned cherries when serving.

The Alps Perfume Industry.

By far the most important commercial and industrial undertaking of the maritime Alps is the perfume industry, according to Consul Hauser at Nice. During 1912 the trade in essential oils, concretes, enfleurages and other perfume materials, particularly in the period of depression, to be regaining its former leading place in the exports from this region. This is due to the fact that at present synthetic perfume is usually mixed with pure flower products, which gives the more highly-scented value and the demand for high grade perfume made of purely floral products is increasing.
The amounts of the various flowers used annually by the perfume factories at Grasse are stated to be as follows: in pounds: Orange flowers, 4,400,000; roses, 3,300,000; jasmine, 2,640,000; violets, 880,000; tuberose, 650,000; carnations, 320,000; black currants, 22,000; mimosa, 110,000; mignonette, 132,000; jonquills, 110,000.
Two of the largest firms amalgamated their interests during 1912, and they have partly remodeled their factories, introducing the most up-to-date methods. It is known as the G. H. Haskell lot, grantors have until April 1914 to remove pine, $800.

The Valiant Niagara.

Fairport Harbor, Ohio, July 17th '13. Dear Advertiser:—After a long delay I will resume my pencil and send you a few more "Notes by the wayside". I returned to Fairport from my more than eight thousand miles swing around the globe on June 18th, and although I have been enjoying my vacation at my daughter's, here in the pretty busy city on Lake Erie.

July 14 was a great day in the history of Fairport and Lake County for on that day fifteen thousand citizens of Fairport and adjoining towns met to welcome Perry's old flagship the Niagara, to her friendly port. Until last winter this historic old ship, for more than 80 years, has laid quietly in her watery grave, half buried in the sand, and in twenty feet of water. In case of Bay, Presque Isle Harbor, near Erie, Penn.

The state of Pennsylvania now owns the Niagara. Her Legislature appropriated $80,000 and appointed a commission of her citizens, to oversee the raising and rebuilding of the ship. A great sucker was used to remove the sand around the hull, then great scoops were anchored on each side, and four great chains passed beneath the ship and fastened to large timbers resting upon the scoops, and the ship was raised and towed ashore. On the beach, where she was overhauled, rebuilt and on June six she was launched again.

At this launching of the "Niagara", Lieutenant-Governor Burchard of Ohio Island, Perry's old flagship, uttered words which must stir the heart of every patriotic American. "On the sea and on the lakes marking the eastern and western confines of the colonies, reconsecrated and rededicated as shrines of patriotism shall forever upon the beautiful waters of the shores that they defended, the invincible old "Constitution" and the redoubtable "Niagara". Youthful feet shall tread these decks and youthful eyes shall kindle at the recollection of Lawrence's precious and heroic years. These precious relics, lovingly preserved by a grateful posterity, will carry down a message from the patriotic fathers to succeeding generations, the message heard at Monterey and Buena Vista, and Manila Bay—the American valor is ever equal to cope with impending peril, against odds however appalling, when humanity and love of country calls patriots to arms.

On August 12th, 1813, the little fleet of nine boats with the Niagara in the lead and with Commodore Oliver Hazard Perry in command sailed past what is now Fairport Harbor, in search of Commodore Barclay and his fleet, proud champions of British power, who at the time held the important position of Lake Erie. He found them on Sept. 10, 1813, and after one of the most noted naval fights recorded in history, wrote them "Hip and thigh", and sent that famous message to Gen. Harrison, "We have met the enemy and they are ours." The cannonading was plainly heard here by the few inhabitants living along the lake, and there was great rejoicing, when a few days later Perry and his gallant crew sailed by his return to Erie, bringing with them as trophies of their valor, the entire British fleet and captive crews.

The Niagara is rebuilt and armed the same as when she went into action. Her armament consists of eighteen thirty-two pounder cannons, and two long twelve pounder mounted well forward and called chasers. The thirty-two pounders are not over five feet in length on the outside and the bore cannot be over four feet in length. The Niagara accompanied by the Wolverine and Essex, both of the late United States training ships, and armed with three pound rapid fire guns are making a tour of the Lake cities, not only in honor of Perry's victory, but in commemoration of the hundred years of peace between the two great English speaking Nations. Let us hope that the bonds of friendship now being strengthened between the Mother country and the Daughter—between grand old England and proud Columbia—between John Bull and Brother Jonathan may never be broken, but grow stronger and stronger as the years go by.

Great Britain and the United States united could defy all the nations of the earth, and by continuing the Olive branch of peace, their crowns, could almost compel all other nations to settle their political differences by peaceful arbitration, instead of by the deadly and destructive battlefield.

The Wolverine formerly the Michigan, was built about 1844, and was one of the first iron ships built upon the lakes. She is propelled today by her original engines, somewhat novel in their make, but apparently as good now as when first made. Her task is to tow the Niagara from port to port and she makes good time too.

She has a war story of her own. During the Civil War, the Michigan, armed to the teeth, did valiant duty on the lakes, guarding against the numerous Confederate plots hatched on Canadian soil. Only a few years ago I visited the battlefield of Gettysburg, Lexington, Bunker Hill and old Fort Griswold, and trod the deck of that proud old frigate, the Constitution, which has doubtless seen fiercer looking cannon peacefully rides at anchor in Charleston navy yard. On Monday last, the 14th of July, I, with thousands of others visited the rejuvenated Niagara, which as she goes sailing up and down the great inland sea, is teaching lessons of peace and patriotism to millions of people living along both the American and Canadian shores.

When You Want a Thing Done Right, Do It Yourself

The man who wants his tobacco cut up for him months before he smokes it, just to save a minute's time, cannot blame the manufacturer because the tobacco gets dried up, burns fast in his pipe and scorches his tongue.

There's only one way to get fresh tobacco—cut it up yourself as you use it, from the Sickle plug. Then you get all the original flavor and moisture that have been pressed into the plug and kept there by the natural leaf wrapper—and you are rewarded by a cool, sweet, satisfying smoke.

Every day more smokers are coming back to the good old Sickle plug and satisfaction. Buy a plug of Sickle at your dealer's—and note how much more tobacco you get, when there's no package to pay for.

SUFFERED ECZEMA FIFTY YEARS—NOW WELL.

Seems a long time to endure the awful burning, itching, smarting, skin disease known as "eczema"—another name for Eczema. Seems good to realize, also, that DR. HOBSON'S ECZEMA OINTMENT has proven a perfect cure.

Mrs. D. L. Kenney writes:—"I cannot sufficiently express my thanks to you for your Dr. Hobson's Eczema Ointment. It has cured my tetter, which has troubled me for over fifty years." All druggists, or by mail 50c. 31-54

Wages continually advancing, material costing more, millions upon millions spent in expensive construction.

Notwithstanding these advancing costs, transportation is cheaper to-day than ever.

Efficient management alone has made this possible.

The Bear Mountain road is undergoing very thorough repairs for improvement by widening, and the blasting of big rocks and felling big trees as a preparation for the final stages of the work show the terrific necessities of dynamite and the woodman's axes in making a fine thoroughfare as authorized by the town at its annual meeting. An effective crew of nine men under a competent superintendent is daily making havoc among the immense boulders along the foot of the mountains, and the road from the head to the foot of the pond is hauled from public travel by obstructive poles across the road, and signs—"Closed for repairs"—warning of the danger of passing over it.

ANNIVERSARY AND CLEARANCE SALE AT MERCHANT'S

The Most Radical Sacrificing of Summer Stocks We've Ever Consented to Begins Here Saturday Morning, August 2nd.

Practically Every Dollar's Worth of Summer Goods in the Store Now Marked at Drastic Price Cuts.

We begin a clearance campaign Saturday Morning, August 2nd, that has but one object—to clear out all summer merchandise in the store. We begin with our eyes wide open, determined to stop at nothing within reason until we dispose of these stocks and have the store in good condition for the reception of fall shipments. It has ever been our policy to do that at this time, but in no previous years have we consented to such radical sacrificing, and aggressive price reductions to accomplish our object.

When we say that beginning Saturday Morning we will send prices tumbling after a fashion never before equalled by us, take us at our word and come prepared to find some of the biggest bargains of the year, for profits and even costs will be ignored and hundreds of dollars' worth of fine, seasonable, desirable and fashionable merchandise will be offered at near cost, cost and even less than cost.

THE CLEARANCE MUST BE COMPLETE. Sale opens at 8 A. M.
